

YALE-HARVARD ATHLETICS.*THE PROPOSITIONS SUBMITTED FROM CAMBRIDGE.

BOSTON, March 31.—The proposition submitted by the Harvard delegates to Yale, governing future contests between the students of the two universities in baseball, football, rowing, and track and field athletics, has just been made public. The regulations will be considered by Yale at a mass meeting to be held April 11.

After defining amateurs, time limitation, playing rules, and trophies, the articles make these specifications as to number, time, and place of contests:

SECTION 1. Baseball: There shall be four games of baseball annually between the "nines" of the universities, two to be played at New-Haven and two at Cambridge. In case the games result, in a tie, a fifth game shall be played. The games shall be played alternately at New-Haven and Cambridge. Of the four games the third shall be at Cambridge the day after the Harvard class day, and the fourth at New-Haven on the Tuesday of Commencement Week. There shall be an annual game of baseball between the Freshman nines of the two colleges and the Scientific Schools, to be played in alternate years at New-Haven and Cambridge respectively.

SEC. 2. Football—There shall be two games of football between the elevens of the two universities, the first to be played on the second Saturday before Thanksgiving Day; the second to be played on Thanksgiving Day. One of the games shall be played in Cambridge and the other in New-Haven or New-York, as Yale shall elect. If New-York is chosen the second game shall be played there. If New-Haven is selected the second game shall be played in alternate years at Cambridge and New-Haven respectively. In case the games result in a tie the victory shall belong to the team scoring the greatest number of points. There shall be an annual game of football between the Freshmen "elevens" of the two colleges and scientific schools to be played in alternate years at New-Haven and Cambridge respectively.

SEC. 3. Rowing. There shall be an annual race between the university crews and also between the Freshman crews of the two universities.

SEC. 4. Track and field athletics. There shall be annual contests between the two universities in track and field athletics, which shall take place in alternate years at New-Haven and Cambridge, respectively.
